

Security Management Policy for Supply Chain

Butzke is committed to acting responsibly, valuing people, protecting the environment and complying with all laws, regulations on Health, Safety and Environment.

For the security management system to be efficient, the company's business needs to be sustainable, for this reason, we adopted three basic principles: being environmentally friendly, socially fair and economically viable.

Butzke directs its actions and efforts towards security management practices in the supply chain based on risk and threat assessment, in order to promote customer satisfaction, seeking to ensure the protection and integrity of deliveries.

To be successful in this work, it considers its external suppliers and partners, especially those who receive Butzke's products, following the logistical process, delivering their products with due protection, so that they can perform their activities ensuring security in the entire supply chain.

Considering the sensitivity and care with communication with stakeholders related to the security management system, Butzke always seek to protect the rights and preservation of any person's image.

In order for this policy to be met, Butzke ensures that all necessary resources will be available and relies on the commitment and collaboration of all its stakeholders to promote the continuous improvement of the logistics security management process in its businesses.
